

Antonio Ortiz is a Product Scientist at Geon Performance Solutions. He graduated with a PhD in Polymer Technologies from CIQA in Mexico and a background in chemical engineering.

Antonio has been part of the Geon team for the past three years, bringing over nine years of hands-on experience in polyolefins. Antonio leads all developments for the growing Mexico market, particularly within automotive applications dealing with PP, TPO, and TPE compounds.