EDUCATION NIGHT

Thursday, April 6, 2006

Why Train? The Importance of Training Specifically Dealing With Injection Molding.

Why do companies need to train and what's the most expensive mistake a processor can make? Find out with Paulson Training Programs as they reveal the answer in their presentation to MVSPE. Plus, Paulson will identify industry challenges and share real-world case studies uncovering the most effective path to a skilled workforce - the key to increased revenues.

Speaker: Ted Chrzanowski

Mr. Chrzanowski joined Paulson Training Programs in 1994 as a Regional Sales Manager. During his career with Paulson Training, he has been responsible for managing customer relationships and developing training programs targeted toward improving profitability and efficiency of more than 3,000 plastics companies. Mr. Chrzanowski was promoted to Vice President of Sales in 2005 and is now responsible for all sales and customer relationship management functions at Paulson. Prior to joining Paulson, he held sales positions for Proctor & Gamble and Stanley Works. Mr. Chrzanowski holds a B.S. in Finance and earned his M.B.A. from the University of Connecticut. He is an active member of SPE and has attended numerous plastics events, programs and seminars during his 12 years in the plastics industry.

The Paulson Advantage

- > The first and largest
- > Two times the training library of our nearest competitor
- > 30,000+ trained—in 3,000 plants—over 30 years!

Paulson Training Programs has been providing top-level training to the plastics industry for 30 years.

- > We are the global leader in plastics training
- > 85 of the top 100 molders have trained with Paulson*
- > 80 colleges and universities, 3,000+ companies, over 30,000 people have trained with Paulson
